Since FTM holds licensing and registration in every deregulated market, you can leverage our licenses to expand your business into new territories. Additionally, you can even operate at a national level without having to navigate the complicated and costly process of obtaining your own certification. FTM partners have the flexibility to operate in a specific area or across the country, depending on their individual needs and goals.

At FTM, we go to great lengths to ensure our partners are compensated in a manner that suits their preferences offering payment options that cater to every need!

We provide both residual and upfront payment choices across all our suppliers. For eligible partners, we even offer options like Next Day Pay and a Cash Advance program, allowing you to establish a commission structure that aligns with your business and team.

Especially during periods of transition, onboarding new talent, or expanding your business, having the ability to expedite your commissions can help cover expenses while you build your future cash flow.

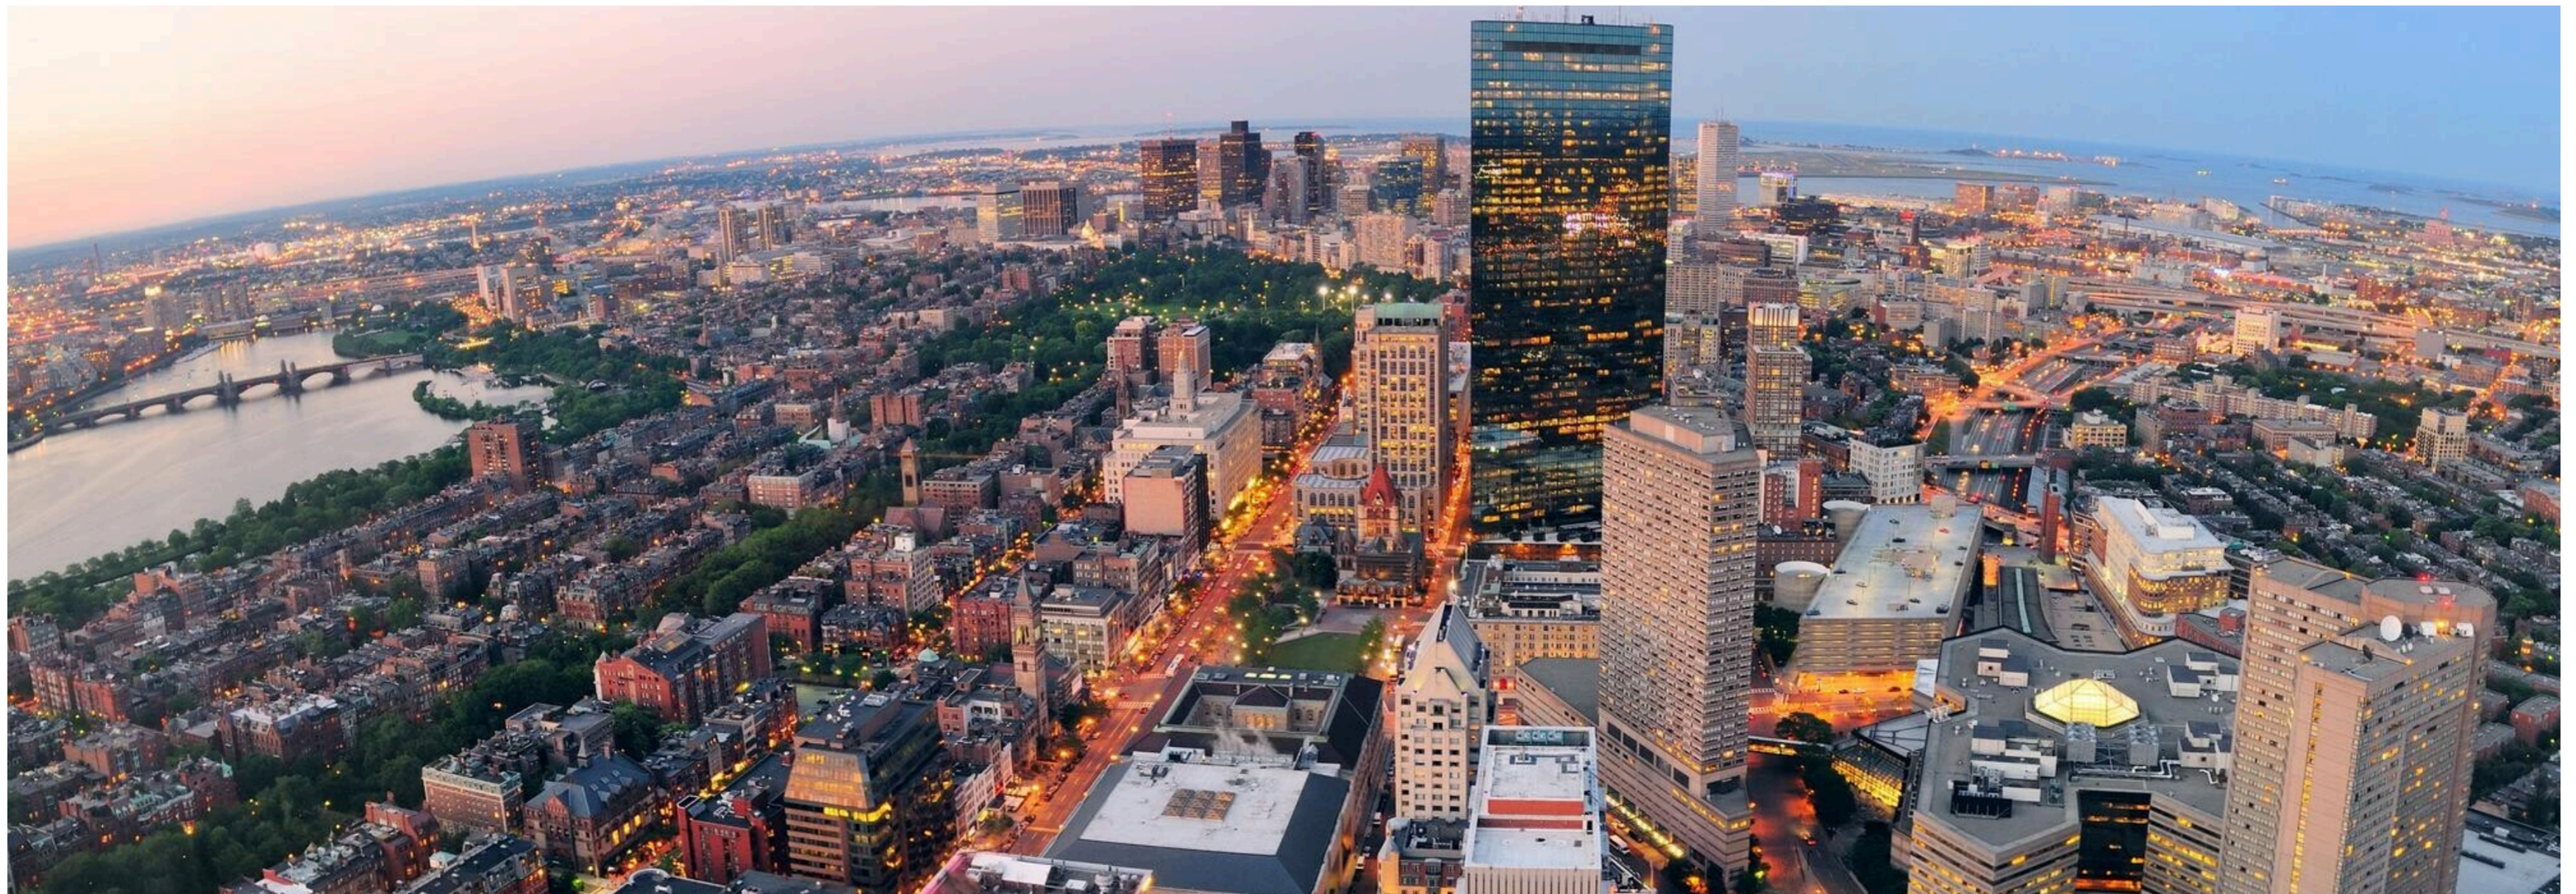

We will collaborate with you to ensure your business operates optimally by assisting you in selecting the best commission payment options for your specific situation.
